

Independent Media Center
<http://www.atlanta.indymedia.org>

Miss A Merry KUH Sunday 06 Jul 2003
author: Atlanta IMC

summary

Miss A Merry KUH was at the Bill Of Rights Defense Committee Independence Day Celebration in all of her Corporate Sponsored Beauty Culture Glory. In the spirit of Attorney General John (lost to a dead guy) Ashcroft, she asked to have her photograph taken with Independence Day revelers, after which she planted 'bugs' on them, and had people sign up with her "voluntary special registration".

---

::: I Miss A Merry KUH :::

"I Miss A Merry KUH [Miss] is a representation of America as a sex symbol who is sponsored by corporations. In this appearance, "Miss" singled out suspects, and asked to have her picture taken with them, while they displayed a drawing [of their likeness] next to their heads. While posing for the picture, "Miss" planted a "bug" [sticker] on the male "suspect". If the "suspect" was female, "Miss" adorned her with a necklace containing a "bug" which is sponsored by the NUKELEUR POWER corporation [fictitious corporation], an implant company that creates "bugs".

::: I Miss A Merry KUH :::

is an interactive performance by Allison Rentz, featuring Brian Sterner as the "agent".

This performance is fictional, and the items representing "bugs" are not real.

www.IMissAMerryKUH.com